Specialist Teacher Education Programme

Developing specialist teaching skills to enable effective inclusive learning

This specialist teaching programme has been designed to develop the specialist skills now required by teachers in order to meet the changing needs of learners, and particularly those learners with disabilities, to ensure effective inclusive learning.

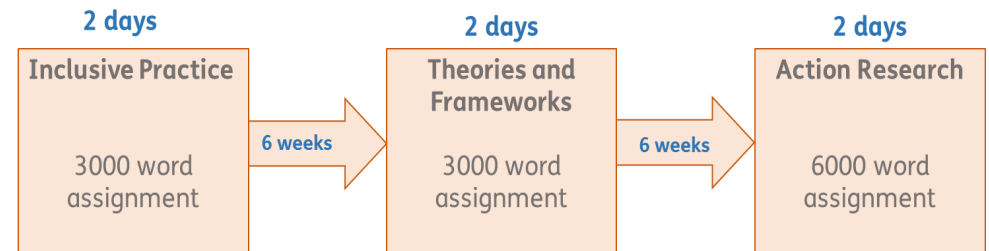

The programme is delivered by teacher educators who have high levels of skills and experience in working with learners with additional learning needs.

The qualification, accredited by City and Guilds, is a Level 5 Diploma in Teaching Disabled Learners has a learning value of 45 Credits.

Candidates who successfully complete this qualification will take an analytical and practical approach to all aspects of planning, delivering and assessing inclusive teaching and learning within their specialist area. Whilst doing this, candidates will ensure that the theories and principles in education and training, and their specialism, are being clearly demonstrated in their practice.

Candidates will also carry out research into professionalism in education and training and their specialist area, and consider the impact on their role and their accountability as a teacher/trainer.

This programme is delivered at National Star College in Cheltenham or can be delivered at your own organization if 8 or more candidates enroll.

Assessment is via three written assignments, four teaching and learning observations (two to be graded good or better) and a teaching log demonstrating 50 hours of teaching practice.

Cost per person is £250 per unit or £750 for the whole qualification
