Appendix 2:

13. Preventing Extremism & Radicalisation Procedure

13.1 Introduction

National Star is committed to providing a secure environment for service users where they feel safe and are kept safe. All employees at National Star recognise that safeguarding is everyone's responsibility irrespective of the role they undertake or whether their role has direct contact or responsibility for service users or not.

National Star's Preventing Extremism and Radicalisation Safeguarding Policy also draws upon the guidance contained in the DfE Guidance 'Keeping Children Safe in Education'; and 'Prevent: Resources Guide'. The document also takes into account advice from the government document 'Prevent duty guidance for England and Wales'.

13.2 National Star Ethos and Practice

When operating this procedure National Star uses the following accepted Governmental definition of extremism which is:

'Vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs; and/or calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in this country or overseas'.

There is no place for extremist views of any kind in our organisation, whether from internal sources – service users, employees, or external sources. Our service users see our organisation as a safe place where they can explore controversial issues safely and where our employees encourage and facilitate this – we have a duty to ensure this happens.

As an organisation we recognise that extremism and exposure to extremist materials and influences can lead to poor outcomes for our service users and so should be addressed as a safeguarding concern as set out in the flow chart. We also recognise that if we fail to challenge extremist views, we are failing to protect our service users.

Extremists of all persuasions aim to develop destructive relationships between different communities by promoting division, fear and mistrust of others based on ignorance or prejudice and thereby limiting the life chances of our service users. Education is a powerful weapon against this, equipping young people with the knowledge, skills and critical thinking, to challenge and debate in an informed way. Therefore, at National Star we will provide a broad and balanced curriculum, delivered by skilled professionals, so that our service users are enriched, understand and become tolerant of difference and diversity and also to ensure that they thrive, feel valued and are not marginalized.

Furthermore, we are aware that our service users can be exposed to extremist influences or prejudiced views from an early age which emanate from a variety of sources and media, including via the internet, and at times service users may themselves reflect or display views that may be discriminatory, prejudiced or extremist, including using derogatory language.

Any prejudice, discrimination or extremist views, including derogatory language, displayed by service users or employees will always be challenged and where appropriate dealt with in line with the National Star Behaviour Policy for service users and the National Star Conduct Policy for employees.

As part of wider safeguarding responsibilities National Star employees will be alert to:

- Disclosures by service users of their exposure to the extremist actions, views or materials of others outside of the organisation, such as in their homes or community groups, especially where service users have not actively sought these out.
- Service users accessing extremist material online, including through social networking sites.
- Parental / care giver reports of changes in behaviour, friendship or actions and requests for assistance.
- Partner organisations, local authority services, police reports of issues affecting service users in other settings.
- Service users voicing opinions drawn from extremist ideologies and narratives.
- Use of extremist or 'hate' terms to exclude others or incite violence.
- Intolerance of difference, whether secular or religious or, in line with National Star equality policy, views based on, but not exclusive to, gender, disability, homophobia, race, colour or culture.
- Attempts to impose extremist views or practices on others, such as Anti-Western or Anti-British views.

Our organisation will closely follow any locally agreed procedure as set out by the Local Authority for safeguarding individuals vulnerable to extremism and radicalisation.

13.3 Teaching Approaches

We will all strive to eradicate the myths and assumptions that can lead to some service users becoming alienated and disempowered, especially where the narrow approaches service users may experience elsewhere may make it harder for them to challenge or question these radical influences.

We will ensure that all of our teaching approaches help our service users build resilience to extremism and give service users a positive sense of identity through the development of critical thinking skills. We will ensure that all of our employees are equipped to recognise extremism and are skilled and confident enough to challenge it.

We will be flexible enough to adapt our teaching approaches, as appropriate, so as to address specific issues in order to become even more relevant to the current issues of extremism and radicalisation. In doing so we will apply the following methodologies:

- Making a connection with service users through good teaching and a person-centred approach.
- Facilitating a 'safe space' for dialogue.

- Equipping our service users with the appropriate skills, knowledge, understanding and awareness for resilience.

Therefore, this approach will be embedded within the ethos of our organisation so that service users know and understand what safe and acceptable behaviour is in the context of extremism and radicalisation. This will work in conjunction with our organisation's approach to the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of service users.

Our goal is to build mutual respect and understanding and to promote the use of dialogue, not violence, as a form of conflict resolution. We will achieve this by using a curriculum that includes:

- Citizenship programmes.
- Open discussion and debate

We will also work with local partners, families and communities in our efforts to ensure our college understands and embraces our local context and values in challenging extremist views and to assist in the broadening of our service users' experiences and horizons. We will help support service users who may be vulnerable to such influences as part of our wider safeguarding responsibilities and where we believe a student is being directly affected by extremist materials or influences, we will ensure that that student is offered mentoring. Additionally in such instances our college will seek external support from the Local Authority and/or local partnership structures working to prevent extremism.

13.4 Whistleblowing

Where there are concerns of extremism or radicalisation, service users and employees will be encouraged to make use of our internal systems, to whistleblow or raise any issue in confidence. Please refer to National Star Whistleblowing Policy for the full procedural framework on our whistleblowing duties.

13.5 Safeguarding

Please refer to National Star Safeguarding Policy for the full procedural framework on our Safeguarding and Child Protection duties.

Employees will be alert to the fact that whilst extremism and radicalisation is broadly a safeguarding issue there may be some instances where a service user may be at direct risk of harm or neglect. For example, this could be due to a service user displaying risky behaviours in terms of the activities they are involved in or the groups they are associated with, or employees may be aware of information about a student's family that may equally place a student at risk of harm. (These examples are for illustration and are not definitive or exhaustive).

Therefore, all adults working within the organisation (including visitors, agency staff and contractors) are required to report instances where they believe a student may be at risk of harm or neglect to the National Lead, Safeguarding & DSL, Safeguarding Practitioner, Deputy Safeguarding Lead or On-call Manager.

Our Safeguarding reporting arrangements are set out fully in our Safeguarding Policy.

13.6 Role of National Star Board of Governors

The National Star Board of Governors will undertake appropriate training to ensure that they are clear about their role and the parameters of their responsibilities, including their statutory safeguarding duties.

The National Star Board of Governors will support the ethos and values of our organisation and will give support in tackling extremism and radicalisation.

In line with the provisions set out in 'Keeping Learners Safe' the National Star Board of governors will challenge the organisation's senior management team on the delivery of this policy and monitor its effectiveness.
